DEDICATION

TO YOUTH

Its energies, its capabilities, its ambitions . . .

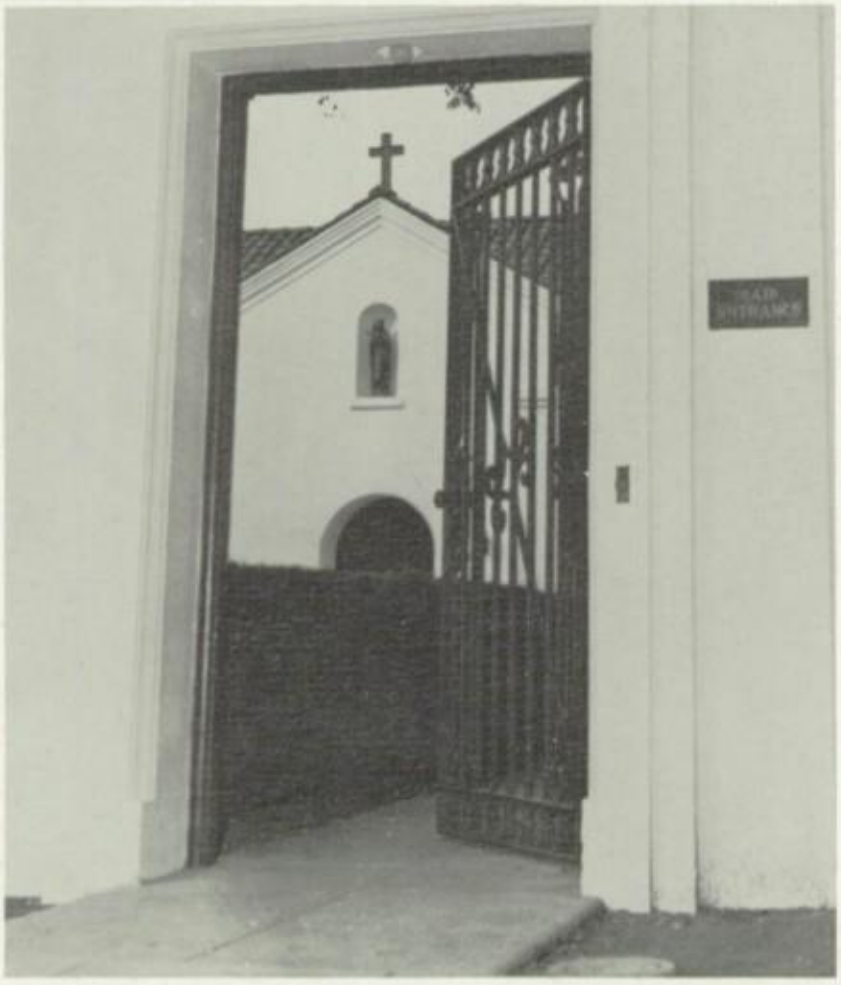
All directed towards a common goal—
the LIKENESS OF CHRIST.

To you—Christian Youth
We dedicate . . .

VILLA MONTEMAR '61

Academy's Campus Provides



Through the wrought iron gate is seen the entrance to the Academy chapel dedicated to Our Lady of Good Counsel.

The orderly well-kept buildings, picturesque gardens and sweeping view of Mission Valley reflect the serenity of the person to whom the Academy of Our Lady of Peace is dedicated—

The Mother of God—
—Our Lady of Peace

In the chapel courtyard birds frolic at the feet of St. Francis of Assisi.

Presenting our theme . . .

The virtues of Christ—the source of Light,
Shine upon Academy students,
Who go forward into every walk of life,
and cast—

REFLECT THE PEACE OF CHRIST

"Pay deference to those who have charge of you in the Lord;
Make it a rule of charity
to hold them in special esteem,
And maintain
unity with them."

Holy Father Stresses Christian Education; Bishop Instills Catholic Ideals in Students

The year nineteen hundred sixty-one has been a year marked by unrest and dissention throughout the world. In these troubled times, Pope John XXIII, his cardinals, bishops and priests have stressed again and again the role of Catholic education in the preparation of young people who will have to cope with today's problems. In our own diocese, His Excellency, Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy has worked unceasingly to further the spread of Catholic education.

On September 20, our most reverend bishop offered the Mass of the Holy Spirit at the Academy. Later in the year, he invited the seniors to be his guests at a breakfast held at Alcala Park. On graduation day, it was the privilege of the class of '61 to receive their coveted diplomas from His Excellency.

Chancery

Alcala Park — San Diego 12, California

June, 1961

Most cordial congratulations to the Graduates of Our Lady of Peace Academy, 1961!

The students of Villa Montemar, with enchanting surroundings overlooking the broad expanse of the Pacific, have special advantages to reflect Our Lady, Queen of Peace, because she invokes for her children abundant graces to insure interior peace, to "serve the Lord with gladness."

The angels sang of this peace on the night that Christ was born.

Our Risen Saviour spoke a greeting of peace -- His legacy to the Apostles.

Reflecting the Blessed Virgin Mary, Queen of Peace, means to live fully and to love completely, so that nothing can uproot the peace of Christ in the hearts of His faithful lovers -- nothing can rob the pure of heart of the joy of conforming to His Holy Will.

Sincerely,

+ Charles F. Buddy

The Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy,
Bishop of San Diego.

Gradesider Maria Pasquel presents a bouquet of roses to HIS EXCELLENCY, THE MOST REVEREND CHARLES F. BUDDY, BISHOP OF SAN DIEGO, following the Mass of the Holy Spirit, which was celebrated by His Excellency in September.

Faculty Inspires,

Monsignor James T. Booth answers a question brought up by seniors Claudia Russo and Kathryn Corso after his weekly course in marriage.

Pam Parente pauses after class to speak to Reverend Isaac Eagen, who instructs the sophomores on moral problems each Tuesday.

Reverend James Anderson stresses an interesting point on Divine Life in his weekly class with the freshmen.

Molds, and Encourages Leaders of Tomorrow

To the faculty falls the responsibility of the spiritual and intellectual welfare of each girl at the Academy. Realizing the magnitude of the task, Sister Evelyn Joseph, principal, with the faculty, carefully laid plans for an interesting and active 1960-61 school year.

The dedicated priests, Sisters of St. Joseph and the lay teachers, concerned with each girl as an individual, strove constantly to develop the Academy students morally as well as scholastically.

REFLECT THE JOY OF CHRIST

"It is given to us, all alike,
To catch the glory of the Lord
As in a mirror,
With faces unveiled;
And so we become transfigured
into the same likeness,
Borrowing glory from that glory,
as the spirit of the Lord enables us."

II Corinthians 3:18

Seniors Maintain Class Spirit; Review Past Four Years

Seniors Still Remember . . .

"OUR HUMBLE BEGINNINGS!"

Freshman Year! We suffered through initiation, convinced that we were indeed the lowest of the low. Saint Maria Goretti was selected as class patroness and the freshman spirit was tucked into the knapsack of "Patches," a lovable canine hobo.

There were rules, more rules, privileges, customs, duties, aims. It seemed impossible for one girl to remember so much. But somehow we did, and entered our next year as . . .

a word we coined at the first sophomore class meeting. Julius Caesar nearly added another tribe to his conquests, but we were victorious in the end. Saints' games and dances were high on the list of favorite activities. Bake sales, record hops, movies, and hard work helped to raise the "yenom" needed for the fabulous Soph-Senior Picnic at Picnic Lake Park. And as the weeks passed, we listened with envy as the juniors raved about the prestige of . . .

"UPPER-CLASSMEN"—

not an invented word, but the real thing. We collected recipes at homeroom, played with chemistry and went on field trips to the S. S. Ticonderoga and to Ryan Aeronautical. Our ring blessing ceremony was a famous first at the Academy. We got "Misty" over an unforgettable Miss OLP Dance and dreamed of "Exotica" at the Catamaran. Dressed in white formals with pastel trims, we formed an archway for the graduating seniors and looked forward eagerly to . . .

the most memorable of all! The class of '61 had been pace setters from that very first year, and our last was no exception. The Study Hall became our new homeroom and Sister Evelyn Joseph and Sister Leo Francis our patient advisers. We broke an unwritten tradition by selecting not sweaters, but white wool blazers with navy blue trim.

There were mixers with Saints' and University High, "Autumn Swirl," the Miss OLP Dance with our queen, Carmen, and the prom at the Hotel Del Coronado Ball Room. In school there was the hectic scramble between classes, "too small" lockers and "too big" purses, term papers and gym. Then came that day in June when we sang together . . . "A Song of Farewell."

Seniors gather after school to discuss major events of the day and plan week-end activities.

Deanne Houck, senior class secretary-treasurer, adjusts the tassel on the cap of Antionette Nunez, president, while Marianne Rego, vice-president, urges them to hurry to graduation practice.

"United we stand; divided we're stuck . . . "

And with this, so began our junior year at O.L.P. Sister Mary Martha and Sister St. Peter became our patient, understanding homeroom advisers. The frosh we welcomed with a Big Sister Lunch at the North Terrace . . . we gradually acquired respect for WINNIE THE POOH as well as a taste for DANDELION WINE . . . we were justly proud of our "Moon Doggie" and of our Oriental sapphire rings.

We can still hear, "Nothing to fear, girls," in chem lab, and "Rosie, you are my Posie" in religion.

For awhile we picked our friends by the campaign buttons they wore, but after the ballots were counted, we pledged eternal friendship . . . until the next election.

Wholeheartedly we supported our candidate, Bruni, in the Miss O.L.P. contest and watched her crowned the Princess at the dance. We received "senior privileges" on Class Day and now wait eagerly for our final year at O.L.P.

Loading the last boxes of food, sophomore officers Jennifer Young, secretary-treasurer; Hollis Trainer, president; and Donna Trumble, vice-president, set out for the Soph-Senior Picnic.

With one year down, and three to go . . .

We gave up television for Julius Caesar and sometimes wished that Pythagoras had taken up Greek instead of mathematics. A curious ailment called front-row-itus was prevalent on Tuesdays and droopy eyelids were not uncommon on the day projects were due. Sister Stephanie and Mrs. Mather guided us through our sophomore problems.

There were good times . . . the first soph mixer, Saints and University High games and dances, various class parties and activities.

Bake sales and record hops were given to help finance the Soph-Senior Picnic. We were noted for our participation in Sodality activities and the artistic decoration of our homerooms. As the year came to a close, we looked forward to our future privileges as "upperclassmen."

'64 Begins Four Year Climb

Freshman officers Phyllis Bertolino, president; Anne Neumann, vice-president; and Shonnie Scholder, secretary-treasurer pause to sample the graduation breakfast they are preparing for the seniors.

SO THIS IS HIGH SCHOOL . . .

And our first year at OLP! We barely survived that first week of rushing from class to class, fumbling for change in the book room, and hunting for misplaced locker keys. We were forever doomed to stand in the auditorium, but still it was a freshmen "privilege" to carry chairs.

By the second week, things were improving. We hardly ever got lost in the halls, and we learned that we would be guests of honor at the Big Sister Lunch and the Welcome Party. We became well-acquainted with teachers, other classes, and the complaint system.

Because of the size of our class, we were the first to be divided into three sections with three homeroom advisors — Sister Mary Lawrence, Sister Ann Marguerite, and Sister Maria Dolores.

St. Agnes was chosen class patron and Pedro the Donkey was selected as mascot. Our spirit was evident in all class activities and our loyalty to the seniors was proved on graduation morning when we provided them with the traditional breakfast.

As Jo Ann Daron calls her mother, freshmen Terry Lapinski, Betty Childs, and Agnes Ybarra discuss O.L.P.'s smashing volleyball victory over Rosary.

Striving to instill piety in others and to achieve personal holiness, Sodalists band together in common devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary. Monthy meetings highlighted by guest speakers and panel discussions united the entire student body in their desire to serve Christ through His Mother.

Assisted by moderator Sister St. Peter, smaller groups met weekly to discuss various phases of devotion to Mary. Mirroring the charity of Christ, Sodalists, among other activities, distributed Christmas boxes to orphans in Tijuana, collected for the missions in South America, and participated in the apostolate of the Catholic Press. Generous students devoted their after school hours to helping the Social Service Sisters at Bayside Social Center.

Stimulated by their love for Our Lady, the Sodalists strove to reflect Christ in every aspect of home, school, and community life.

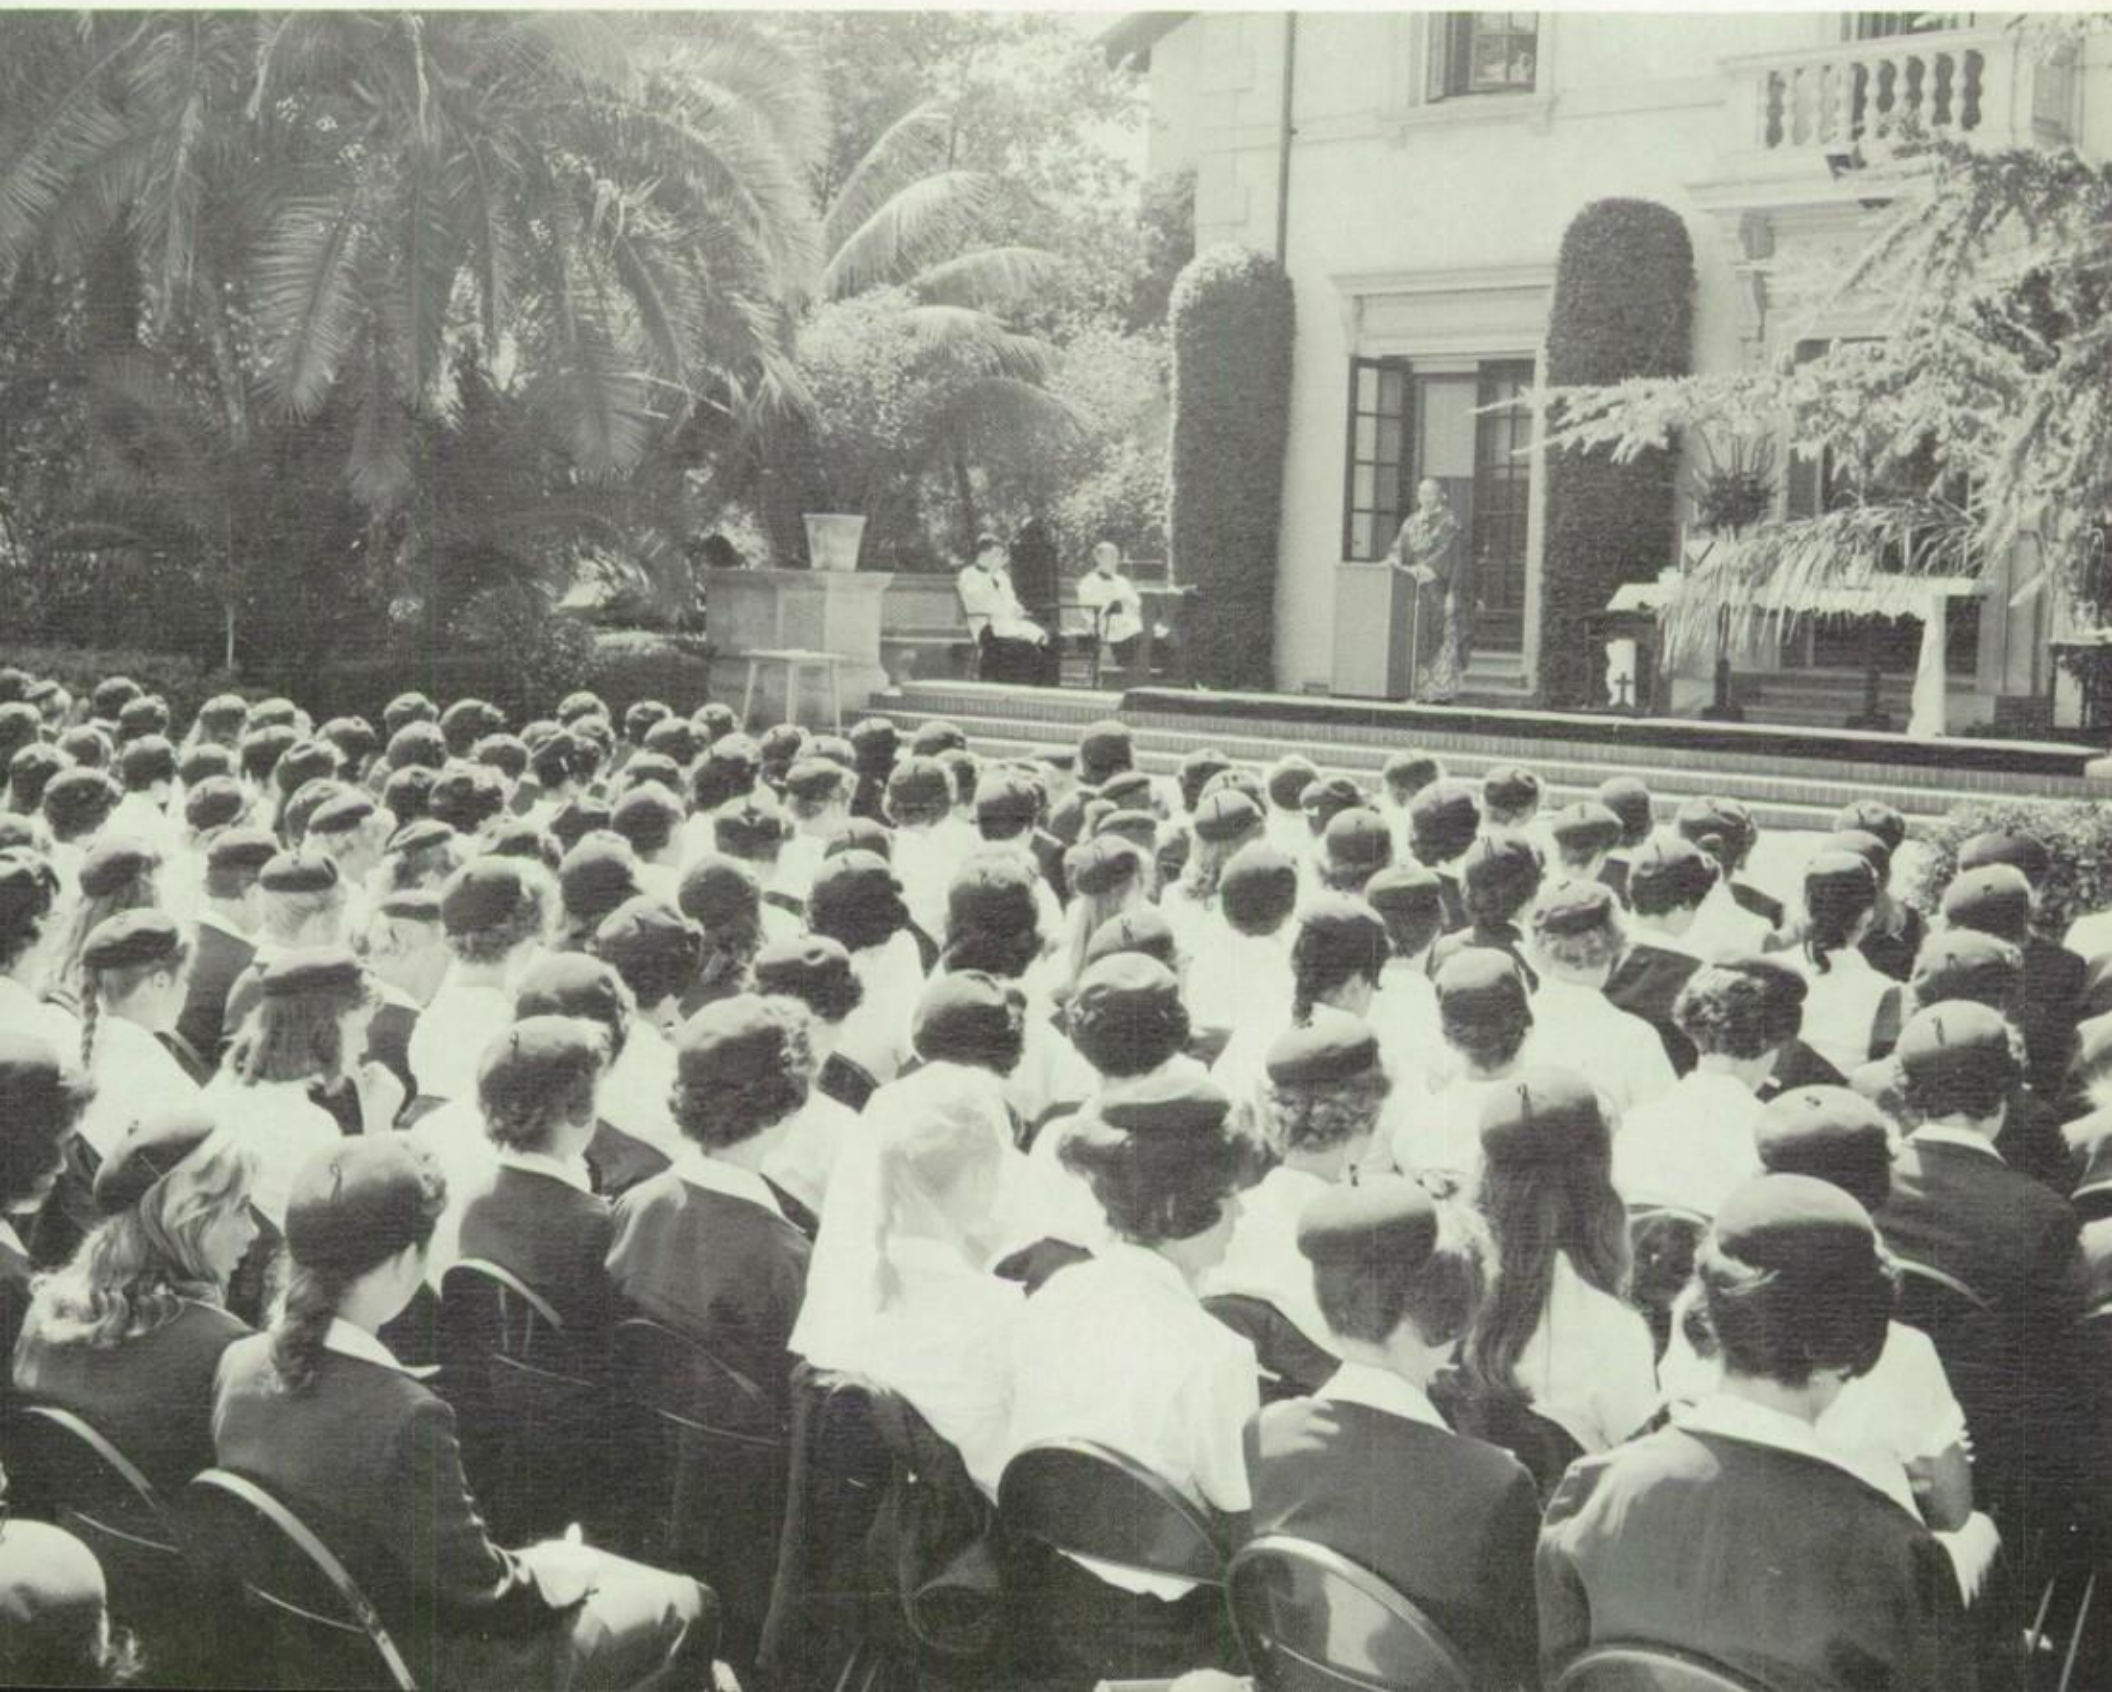
Sodality Encourages Spiritual Development; Promotes Catholic Ideals

On September 20, the Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy, Bishop of San Diego, was greeted by Sister Evelyn Joseph and conducted past an honor guard of seniors to the North Terrace. There, His Excellency celebrated the Mass of the Holy Spirit, which for many years has marked the official opening of each school year.

Attired in dress uniform, the student body listened as His Excellency reminded them to always place God first, others second, and themselves last, in every aspect of their lives.

After the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, gradesider Mary Pasqual presented the Bishop with a bouquet of red roses on behalf of the entire student body.

Academy students dedicate their school year to the Holy Spirit at the opening Mass celebrated by Most Reverend Charles Francis Buddy.



Shepherds fall on their knees as angels appear during the singing of "O Holy Night" at the Circle Drive.

Seniors depict Saint Elizabeth and the Blessed Virgin at the Visitation scene, one of the Candlelight Procession Tableaux.

During one of the most inspiring moments of the Candlelight Procession R. Ruplinger, M. Nord, M. J. Sick, J. Buswell, P. Gallagher, V. Coutts, and C. Berens sing "O Holy Night."

Candlelight Procession Manifests Christian Spirit; Sodality Parties Provide Fun For All

Characters ranging from Snow White to Jack and Jill appeared in full force at the Sodality Halloween Party. Classes competed in various contests, and the juniors won "Moondoggie" for their first place efforts.

The antics of "The Littlest Angel" were portrayed by angelic freshmen at the Epiphany Party, January 6. Sophs opened their skit with a sleepless slumber party, as worried girls pondered the question of what to do for the Epiphany. The arrival of Santa Claus and his eight tiny reindeer signaled the start of the junior class dramatization of "The Night Before Christmas." Seniors presented "The Little Drummer Boy."

Students Aspire toward Moral Perfection; Retreat Conferences Stimulate Spiritual Growth

White candles, symbolic of the purity of the Blessed Virgin, were clasped by each Academy student as she solemnly asked Mary for a greater love for the virtue of purity on the Feast of the Purification, February 2. In his speech preceding the actual ceremony, Reverend James Anderson stressed the selflessness of Mary and emphasized the tremendous role of women in the modern world.

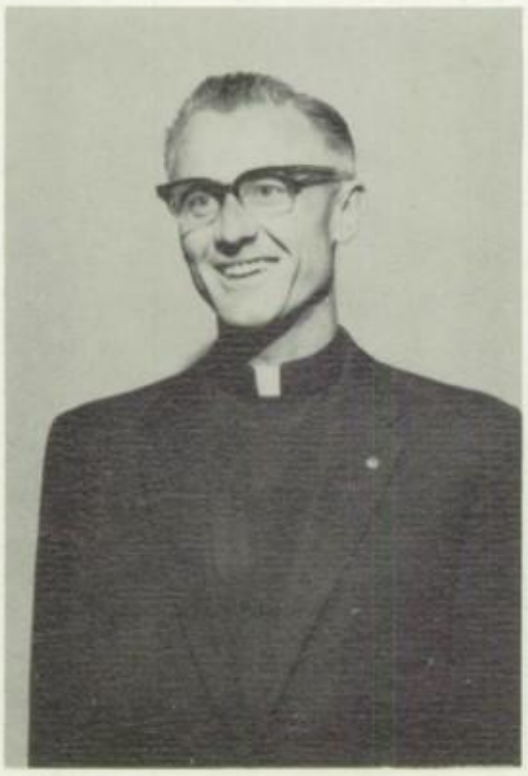
After the blessing of the candles, Sodalists kneeling on prie-dieux offered silent prayers for an increase of the virtue of purity in their own lives. After Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the ceremony concluded with the hymn, "Mother Beloved."

All classes were given the privilege of making a three day retreat — an opportunity to take spiritual inventory. The carefully planned days included the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, conferences, the rosary in common, and spiritual reading.

Sodalists Lynn Landmesser, Julie Buswell, and Carole Ghareeb renew their consecration to the Blessed Virgin at the Candlemas Day ceremony.

Reverend Vincent McGarvey, O.S.A. administers Holy Communion to retreatants.

Thanking REVEREND VINCENT McGARVEY, O.S.A. for the spiritual retreat he conducted for the juniors and sophomores are Elizabeth Lee and Mary Jo Sick.



REVEREND JAMES O'CALLAGHAN, Retreat Master for the seniors.

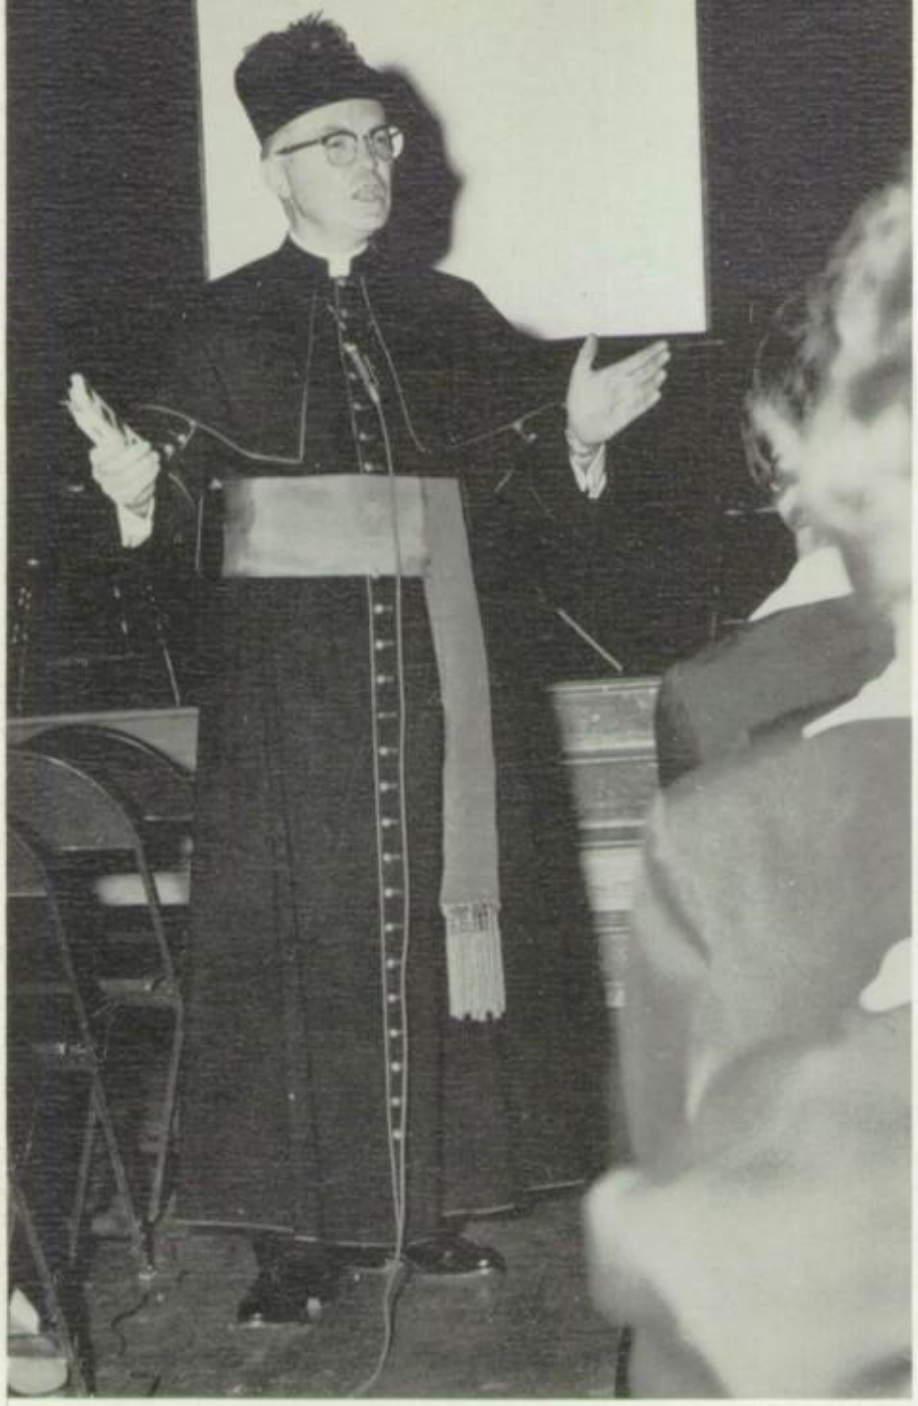
Speakers, Panels,



After delivering a speech to the student body on the importance of religious vocations, Monsignor Franklin Hurd answers the questions of an interested audience.

Reverend Andrei Urusov S.J., of the Russian Byzantine rite, stresses the importance of knowing the tactics of communism in an informative speech presented to the Student Body.

The spiritual and economic needs of the Latin American countries are discussed by a panel of Sodalists, M. Zandi, A. Frick, L. Landmesser and J. Nemechek, led by M. Shepard, prefect.

Challenge Students to Imitate Christ

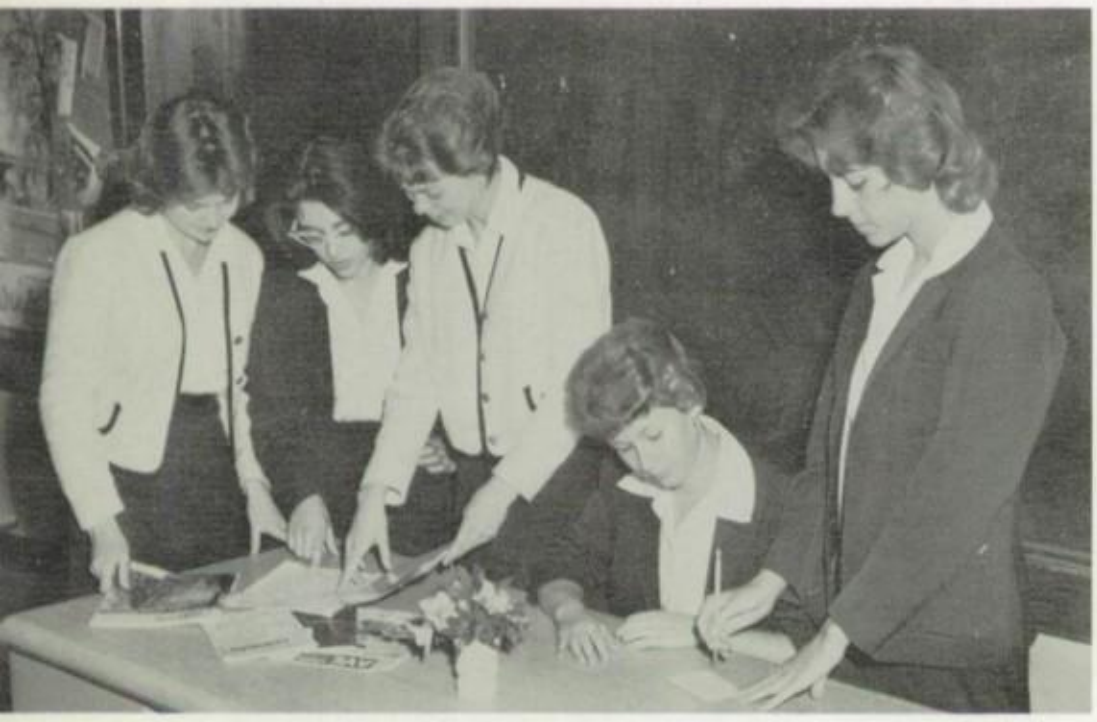
The spiritual development of the students is the primary concern of the faculty. To fulfill this goal, a program of speakers and panels was offered for spiritual enrichment. Apostolic awareness was stimulated through presentations illustrating the problems of the Church in South America and India.

Throughout the year various speakers were invited to address the student body on pertinent topics of special interest.

Mother Teresa, of the Missionaries of Charity, relates to the student body the work of her order among the poor of India.

After showing the student body colored slides that illustrate the life of postulants and novices at the House of Studies, Sister Rose Bernard, vocation director of the Sisters of St. Joseph, talks with Sister Evelyn Joseph, principal. RIGHT: Stressing the point that the world will be what its women are, is Reverend James Anderson at the Candlemas Day ceremony, held in the auditorium, February 2.

Numerous Spiritual Activities



Sharon Waxon fills in the subscription blank for the magazine she won in the Sodality raffle as J. Shadewald, A. Novasel, and S. Seifert look over the various Catholic periodicals offered as prizes.

An active Sodality worked constantly to bring students closer to Jesus through Mary. The spirit of the Passiontide was captured through an impressive Lenten program, and in May the entire student body honored Mary by crowning her statue at the Point. The Catholic press was furthered through an effective magazine raffle.

At a seminar held for student officers from both Saint Augustine's and the Academy, Father Robert Churbuck O.S.A. discussed the problems and responsibilities of student leaders and their personal relation to Christ.

Margaret Shepard, Sodality prefect, places a rosary in the hands of the Blessed Mother during the annual May Procession as M. Adkins, M. E. Crabtree, S. Seifert, J. Schadewald, G. Robinson, N. Barnes, A. West and Y. Green finish the fifth joyful mystery.

Promote Catholic Action

To emphasize the true meaning of Passion Week, the Sodalists deliver a choral reading entitled "The Woman Wrapped in Silence."

Colossians 2:16

Carolyn Ast (standing), Cynthia Hadys, and Yvonne Green present a panel discussion on "Christian Marriage" during senior religion class.

Program of Religious Instruction Lays Foundation For Future Life

8:40 . . . and the sound of the first bell signals the beginning of the religion period for every student at O.L.P. Fundamentals of Catholic doctrine are explained and applied to daily situations as students study "not just another subject" but a way of life.

The text books reflect the aims of the four year program of religious instruction—to give students the Power of grace, a life time sense of Loyalty to Christ and His teachings, the Guidance of prayer, and a desire for Service.

Discussing a quotation from the Bible are sophomore religion students Rebecca Albrecht, Arlene Iverson, Jane Wydra, Roxanne Gallant, and Donna Trumble.

Study of Literature, Grammar, Composition Stressed in Four Year Program

The Great Expectations of the Academy frosh were more than realized during their first year of English at O.L.P. Developing an appreciation of literature was the first freshman accomplishment.

Long term assignments were required of the sophomores, who learned soon to budget their time to include interviews, magazine reports and other interesting assignments.

Paperbacked novels were often toted by the juniors, who avidly explored the world of contemporary authors on the American scene. Various projects gave the students a better understanding of our country's literary heritage, and recordings helped the works of such modern poets as T. S. Elliot and Robert Frost take on real meaning.

During their final year, seniors studied the works of Shakespeare, Milton and Bacon. Climaxing four years of work, the seniors composed term papers. Though at first baffled by footnotes, they eventually learned to use them, and felt a real sense of achievement as they completed their lengthy assignments.

Sophomores Teresa Galvin, Rita Colton, Barbara Peterson, Julie Chilton, Maria Paredes and Diane Gallagher sign out magazines for their weeky report on current Catholic articles.

Language Clubs Plan Full Year; Combine Study with Activities

"Viva La France" and "Sum Est Romanus Civis" were bywords of Academy's struggling linguists.

Like the conquistadors of long ago, Spanish students explored the world of grammar and pronunciation as they absorbed the fascinating culture of Mexico, Spain, and other Latin countries.

White togas prevailed at meetings of the "Senatus", formed by third and fourth year Latin students, as the girls followed in Cicero's footsteps. Sophomores marched to victory under Caesar's banner, and Freshmen built a foundation for further study in Latin.

Members of Les Fleur-de-lis obtained first hand information about France from their French pen pals. Paris creation hats added a Gallic touch to the classroom.

German students learned the language of the fierce Teutonic people. Luncheons, and field trips were among the activities planned by the "Green Horns", as well as the other language clubs.

Language clubs were under the direction of moderators Sister Helen Bertille, French, Sister Ann Marguerite, German, Sister Maria Dolores, Spanish, and Mrs. Marguerite Mather, Latin.

"Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears," pleads Elizabeth Lee at an informal meeting of the Latin Club. Other Cicero enthusiasts are FIRST ROW: C. Cunningham, C. Rogers, S. Skinner, S. Whalen, P. Eurich. SECOND ROW: R. Childs, M. Zontek, K. Schultz, M. Webb, C. Mattek, M. Wagner. THIRD ROW: E. Trondle, S. Seifert, V. Scarborough, R. Hager, J. Bloxham, M. Zandi, J. Gosselin, S. Waters, L. Buenger, and K. Zellmer.

Spanish Club members are FIRST ROW: G. Trambley, M. Shepard, B. Cendali, C. Pombo, K. Clause, N. Barnes, and M. Buckley. SECOND ROW: B. Ellis, R. Avila, M. F. White, M. Parades, T. Carrasco, J. Van Dahl, V. Herrero, A. Canedo and S. Carr. THIRD ROW: M. Zaich, S. Dawson, S. Seifert, C. Ast, J. Nemechek, M. Nord, E. Ferriera, J. A. Morrison, R. Iaco and S. Waxon.

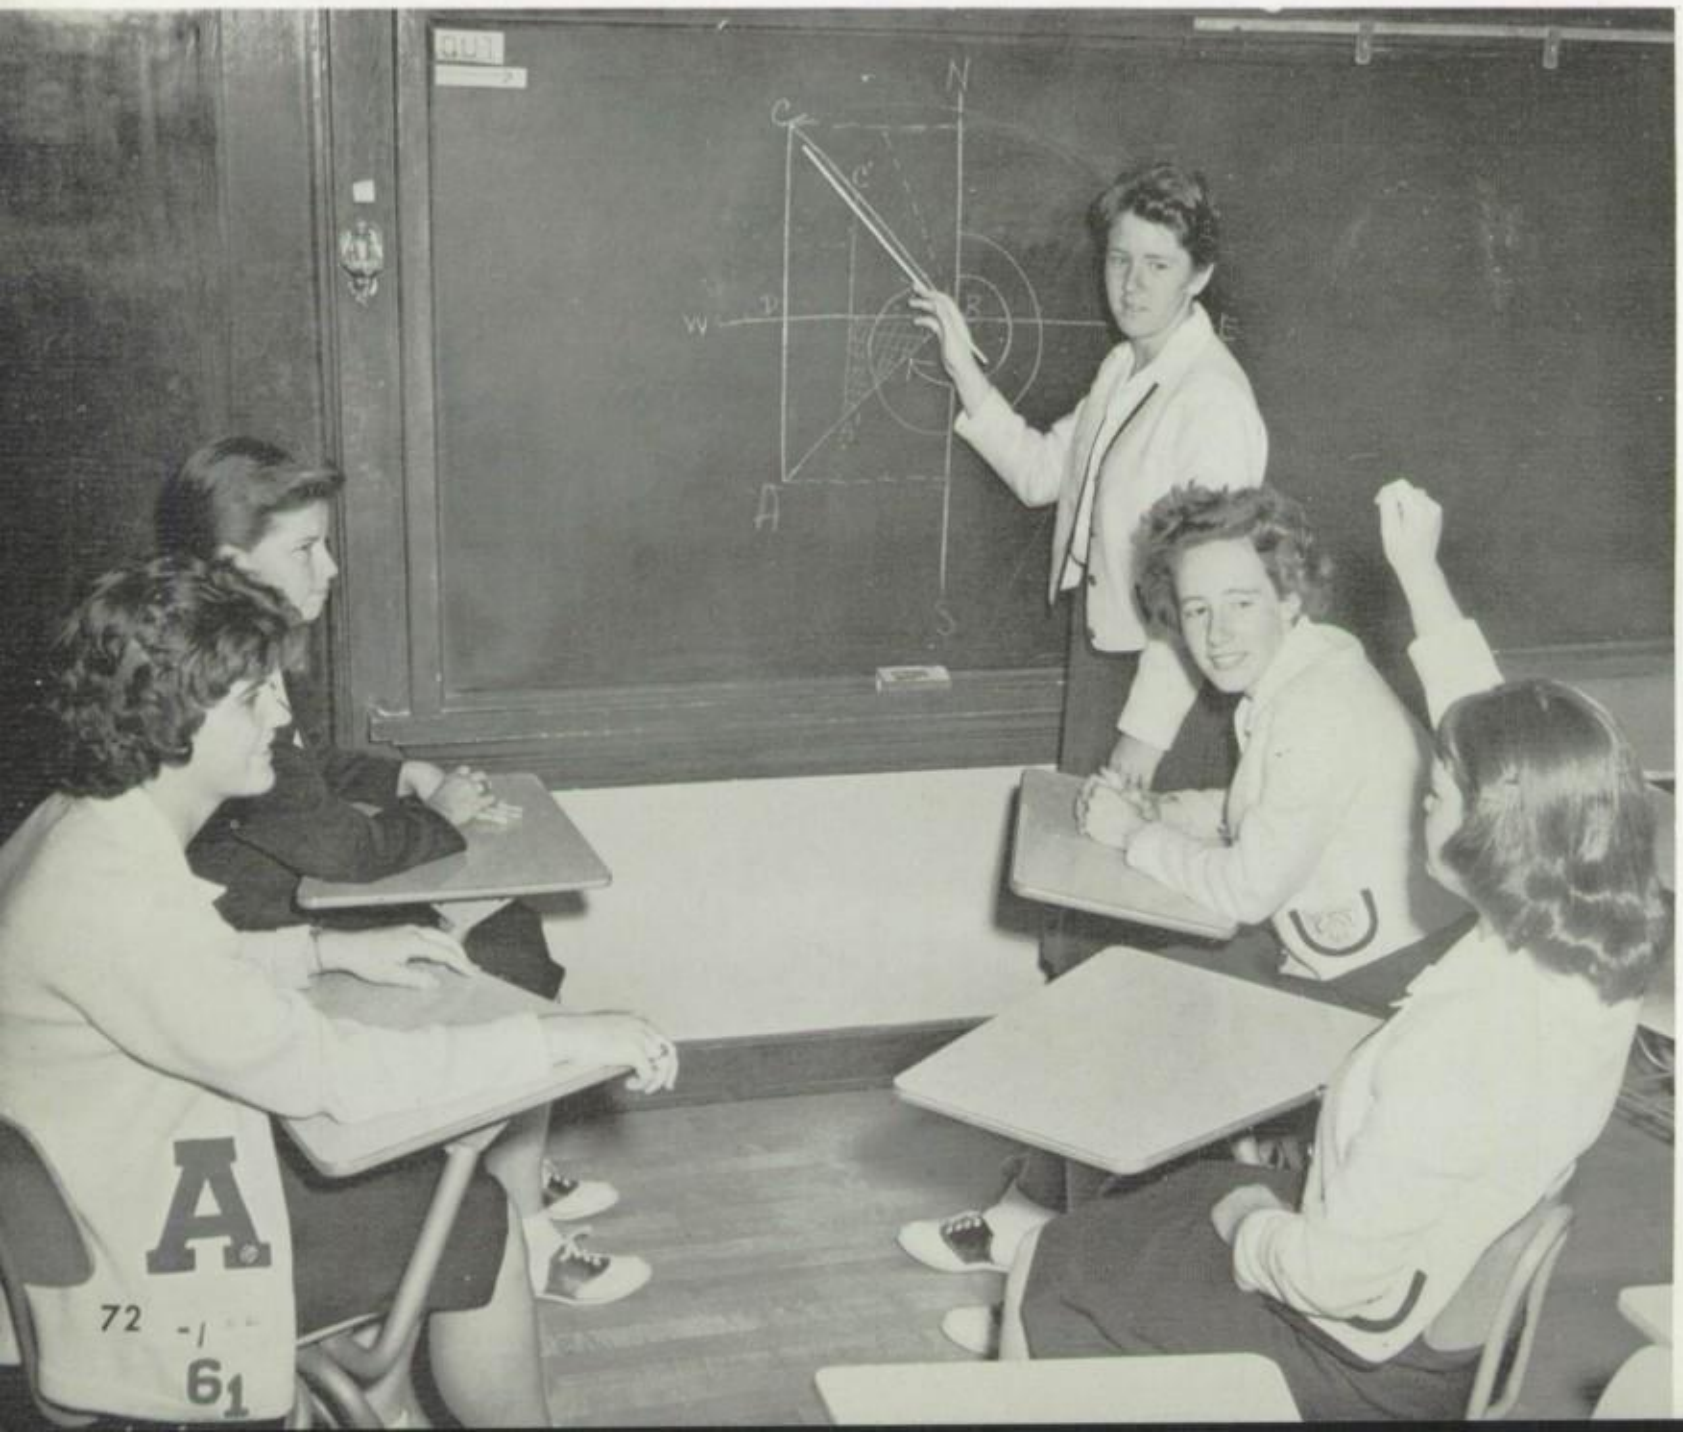
Algebra I students Linda Fanciullo, Darlene Saxod, Janice Gootee and Carol Hull stand by to correct any mistakes made by Mary Ann Lang at the blackboard.

Jane Nisbit volunteers a solution to Mary Clancy's problem as Marilyn Webb, Barbara Miller and Agnes West wait expectantly for the answer.



Complexities of Mathematics, Wonders of Science Challenge Inquisitive Minds

"Adding is subtracting?" Eager frosh were understandably bewildered as they took their first glimpse at the fundamentals of algebra. But as the year progressed, they were surprised and pleased to note that those impossible problems were not so impossible after all; by June they were the undisputed masters of their new text books.

Geometry proved to be a lesson in clear thinking for sophomores, who memorized the theorems with fervent zeal.

The "mathematicians" labored diligently over graphs, quadratic equations and other aspects of advanced algebra. On Tuesdays and Fridays, trigonometry students took that "one step beyond" in the world of math.

Test tubes, horse power, and aquariums were among the chief interests of O.L.P.'s scientists as they delved into the mysteries of the universe. The Academy offered these Von Brauns of the future a strong science program of chemistry, physics, and biology supplemented by lab periods, field trips, and lectures.

Sister Leo Francis, science instructor, demonstrates one of the more dangerous experiments with sodium as her chemistry students watch with interest.

Ann Frick and Sue Whelan portray the famous characters in the Hamilton-Burr duel, bringing American history to life as Kathy Clause, Ellen Trondle, Sharon Heine, and Mary Whalen look on in amazement.

Interested civics students S. Farrell, B. Cendali, B. Ellis, M. Caratan, M. Clancy, A. Canedo, and D. Houck discuss the forthcoming student presidential election with Sister Mary Stephanie, civics teacher.

History, Civics Develop Citizenship; Typists Strive for Speed, Accuracy

1492 . . . 1512 . . . 1006 . . .

These dates became important to freshmen studying ancient history which begins with early cavemen and terminates with shouts of "Revolutio" on the lips of rebelling Frenchmen. In modern history class sophomores vicariously engaged in major events from the treaties at Versailles to the inaugural address of President Kennedy. Juniors studied how our country grew from a divided, penniless nation to the great world power that it is today. Completing the Academy's well-balanced program of history, seniors took courses in civics and sociology.

Fgf--space--mjm--space . . . Whether learning the elementary drills or attempting to set a new typing record for speed, Sister Loyola's typing classes worked toward their goal —mastery of the keyboard. With basic skills mastered, they will continue to perfect their ability.

Seniors Viola Herrero and Bonnie Simmons concentrate upon speed and accuracy during one of the frequent time tests given during their daily typing class.

Journalism

Sophomore art students Sandra Jolley, Ann Navarra, Betty Coffee, Elizabeth Ryan, and Charmille Sick discuss various points of the still life display set up by Jennifer Young.

S. Martinez, P. Parente, M. Rego, P. Gallagher, B. Cendali, L. Buenger, and C. Mattek participate in a choral reading of Robert Frost's "Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening" as Mr. J. Coker, instructor, directs the group.

Art, Speech Stimulate Student's Interest in Culture

"Another deadline, already" . . . And so the vicious circle of writing copy, planning layout, taking pictures, and completing assignments began for the budding journalists on the staffs of the school newspaper and yearbook. With the valuable advice of the moderators, Sister Ann Marguerite and Sister Mary Lawrence, the girls became experienced in the techniques of planning, organizing, and budgeting time for the sucess of the publications "The Villa" and Villa Montemar '61.

Artistic-minded students were offered a stimulating and challenging four year course in art which included lettering, perspective drawing, sketching, water colors, mosaics, and oils. Under the guidance of Sister Mary Lawrence, art instructor, the girls fostered an appreciation for the fine works of the great masters and learned the rubrics of expressing themselves in varied mediums.

Strengthening the ability to communicate ideas effectively was the primary aim of speech students. Through diligent practice and careful study of the theory of debate and interpretation they attained a fraction of perfection. Outstanding students successfully participated in city-wide competition crediting themselves and their instructor, Mr. John Coker.

Busy "Villa" staff members frantically strive to meet their deadline during the journalism lab class which meets at 7:45, two mornings a week.

Officers, Leaders of Tomorrow, Unity Among Students

When a student government has just rules, election, and representation, it becomes a working democracy. The Academy with its Student Council working as the nucleus of school activities and coordinating between faculty and students, possess these necessary qualities of a sound government.

Under the leadership of Rita Childs, ASB President, the Student Council composed of ASB, GAA, Sodality, and class officers solved school problems and discussed qualities of leadership.

Assisting the Council were the auxiliary committees and the newly-formed cabinet of homeroom representatives and their assistants.

Contributing to the success of the student government was student Council moderator, Sister Evelyn Joseph.

ASB homeroom representatives are: M. Malarkey and C. Ast, 12; B. Sadauski, 9s1; P. Wilson, 10s2; J. A. Casey, 11s2; R. Hubbell, 9s2; J. Wydra, 10s2; M. Shank, 9s2; C. Cunningham, 11s1; R. Brogan, 9s1; J. Gosselyn, 11s1; C. Sacci and M. L. Collura, 9s3.

Janet Nemechek, ASB committee chairman, points out a suitable date for a general committee meeting. Yvonne Green, auditorium committee chairman; Marsha Zandi, homeroom representative chairman; Lura Jan Van Vleck, hall committee chairman; Betty Gingery, bulletin board committee chairman and Regina Letsinger, special service committee chairman, take note of time and place.

CSF, Traffic Inspire

Presenting "No Man is an Island" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic" are Margaret Shepard, Yolanda Ruiz, Suzanne Farrell and Kathryn Corso in a program sponsored by the California Scholarship Federation.

Linda Stuemke, secretary, Marilyn Webb, president, Claudia Russo, vice-president, and Lee Ann Yakes, treasurer, plan a monthly CSF meeting.

First and second semester CSF members are FIRST ROW: M. Webb, M. Hayward, L. A. Yakes, D. Trumble, P. Hoffman, N. Quirk, B. Ross, R. Gallant, S. Seifert, S. Farrell, C. Crouse, M. Wagner. SECOND ROW: A. West, K. Schultz, C. Rogers, C. Mattek. THIRD ROW: J. Donnell, M. J. Sick, J. Buswell, E. Lee, R. Avila, R. Hager, V. Scarborough, S. Silva, L. Young, S. Skinner, H. Trainer, B. Sadauski, L. Rathswold, C. Salovitch, P. Parente, J. Prantil, M. Carmona, R. Childs, L. Landmesser.

Safety, Debate Club Initiative and Leadership

In an effort to encourage higher scholastic goals, Academy's Chapter 497S of the California Scholarship Federation, urged students to strive for membership in their organization. The torch pins earned by semester members, and the lamp pins signifying life membership were coveted prizes for conscientious scholarship.

Several juniors and seniors from OLP represented the school at the Annual Teenage Traffic Safety Conference held on December 1 at the Conference Building in Balboa Park.

The speech club, only in its second year at OLP has become one of the school's most active organizations. "Our Lady's Debaters" competed in tournaments throughout the city, rating honors in varied forms of rhetoric. Occasionally the student body had the pleasure of viewing these students in action, as they debated at ASB meetings.

Mary Clancy, Margaret Shepard, City Council Secretary, and Marilyn Webb review the day's experiences at the San Diego Traffic Safety Conference.

Debate squad members M. Clancy, C. Russo, L. A. Yakes, D. Trumble, L. J. Van Vleck, J. Jackson, P. Parente, and M. Carmona practice debating techniques before a student body meeting.

Mr. Bernard Morzinski, orchestra instructor, proudly looks on as his pupils prepare for rehearsal. Orchestra students are: S. Schultz, C. Corr, B. Parker, M. Tagwerker, T. Hart, K. Schultz, C. Johnson, R. Hight, L. Rathswohl, D. Opitz, T. Feeney, S. Waxon, S. Qualiato, L. Vargas, M. Carmona, and P. Hanner.

Relaxing after the Spring Recital are J. Nemechek, M. J. Johnson, S. Waxon, S. Schultz and P. Gallagher.

The Academy Glee Club sings selections from "Brigadoon" at the American Education Week program.

Orchestra Displa Glee Club

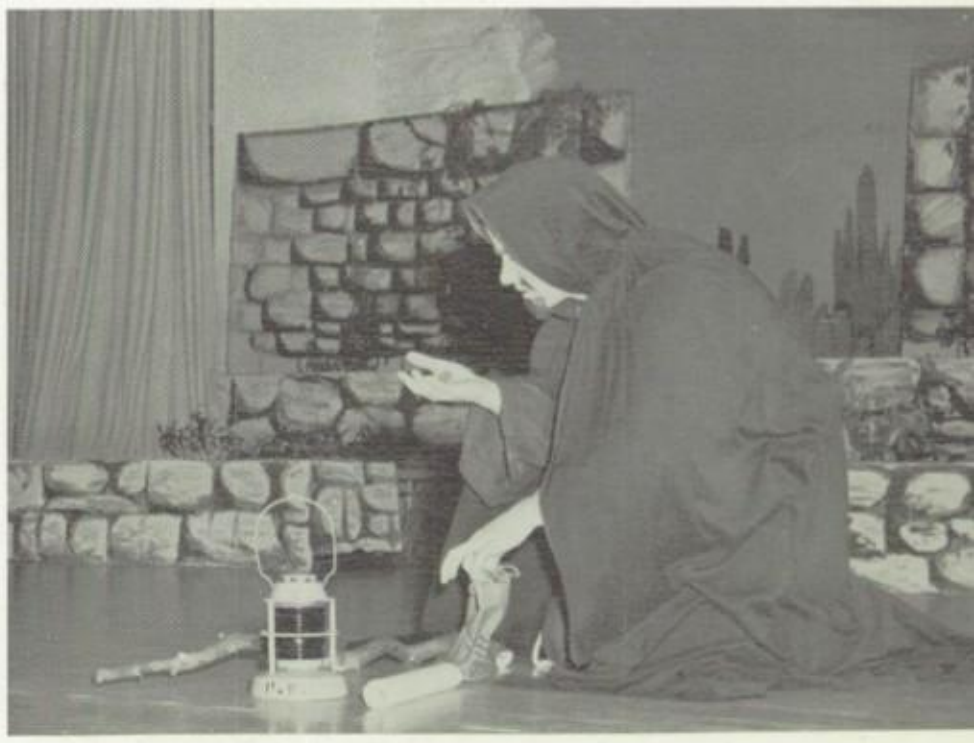
Walter Casey, Mary Jo Sick, Steve Gillespie, Pamela Gallagher, Peter Schwab, and Frank Steinauer join with the chorus in the last glorious refrain of the Operetta.

Music Students Talents in Recital; Presents Operetta

"The Chimes of Normandy" rang out in the auditorium as the Academy Glee Club and orchestra presented the well known operetta. Long hours of practice under the combined direction of Sister Ann Marguerite, glee club, Mr. Bernard Morzinski, orchestra, and Mrs. Marguerite Mather, drama, resulted in capacity audiences on the nights of March 10, 11, and 12.

For the first time at the Academy, male parts in the production were assumed by boys from St. Augustine's. Imaginative sets, designed by Sister Mary Lawrence, added a professional touch to the set.

Before going on stage, J. Ellis, J. Gosselin, K. Phillips, A. Santos, P. Thompson, and B. Rippo apply finishing touches of make-up.



Gaspard, portrayed by Frank Steinauer, counts his gold pieces in the village courtyard.

Upperclassmen Attend Dances, Prom; Crown Miss OLP at "Cupid's Capers"

The OLP auditorium was the scene of many social functions. Students escorted their favorite dates to "King and I" — the annual Father-Daughter Night, December 9. In February, a silver cupid twirled from a lowered ceiling as upperclassmen and their dates danced at "Cupid's Capers." The "Roaring Twenties" were re-created at a special Student Council dance given April 29.

Climaxing the year, the Junior-Senior Prom was held in the main ballroom of the Hotel Del Coronado.

Before attending the Junior-Senior Prom, Marilyn Fischer and Patricia Thayer, seniors, bring their dates, Wick Houser and Johnny Townsend to the Administration Building where they will introduce them to the sisters.

Resident Students Find

Paula Thompson, Claire Begin and Ann Millican leave St. Margaret's on their way home for Easter vacation.

Throughout the school year numerous enjoyable activities were planned by the Boarders' Council to enliven the resident students' life in their home away from home.

Every holiday was celebrated and Christmas was no exception as boarders exchanged gifts at the annual Christmas party held in St. Catherine's and the lounge. The juniors and seniors and their dates swirled at "Winter Wonderland," "June In January," and other socials held throughout the year. In the fall and at the close of the school year, the faculty treated the girls to a swim party at La Jolla Shores.

Besides learning to live harmoniously with others, resident students acquired basic homemaking skills under the guidance of Sister Leo Francis and Sister Ellen Marie.

Boarders' Council members B. Miller, GAA representative, G. Robinson, senior representative, J. Simmons, president, M. E. Crabtree, vice-president, B. Parker, junior representative, and T. Hart, sophomore representative, plan the next boarders' social.

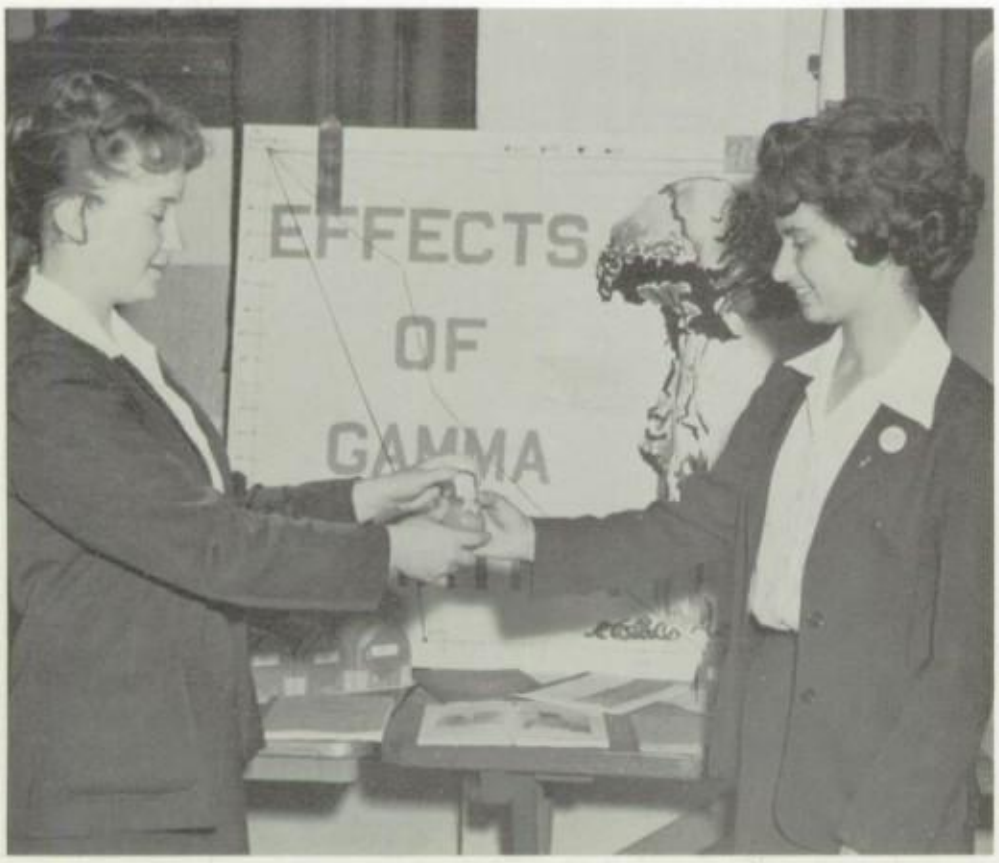
Annual Science Fair Attracts Visitors; Guild, Alumnae Aid Building Drive

Academy students view the biological and chemical projects entered in the Seventh Annual Science Fair.

Linda Stuemke explains her prize winning chemical project to Rose Avila, biological winner.



The appearance of sleepy-eyed juniors and seniors on March 3, carrying anything from radiated rats to dead bean plants, heralded the opening of the Academy's Seventh Annual Science Fair. Twelve projects were chosen by a screening committee to enter the Greater San Diego Science Fair. Parents, friends and students viewed the display on March 4 and 5 in the auditorium.

Working in close association with the faculty, the Academy Family Guild met on the third Tuesday of each month, and in the spring presented a highly successful Villarama Day dinner and bazaar. A full schedule of events was planned by the Alumnae Association climaxed by a tea honoring the newest alumnae—the class of '61.

Discussing Villarama plans over a cup of coffee are Family Guild officers Mrs. Marjorie Farrell, room mother chairman; Mrs. A. R. Sharp, secretary; Mrs. H. Engler, treasurer; Mrs. C. Throughout the year, the GAA attempted to arouse school spirit through support of the varsity and through promoting enthusiasm for all forms of athletic competition.

Pep Club chairmen Mary Nan Sweeney, Kathleen Rogers and Terra Leonard discuss ways and means of promoting spirit in the GAA during basketball season.

"Ready, let's go!" Gerry Trambley and Marilyn Wiedower practice routines for the University High School "Dons".

Cheerleaders Spark Spirit and Enthusiasm; Support Varsity and Class Teams

Tremendous is the best adjective to describe the job done by O.L.P.'s cheerleaders. Long hours were spent working out new routines and composing cheers. Dressed in their snappy outfits, Villain cheerleaders generated both pep and enthusiasm at all varsity games and rallies.

The various class cheerleaders sparked interest in their respective classes and increased the spirit and attendance during intramural contests.

Academy girls were privileged to join the Saint Augustine cheering section and also that of University High. The girls chosen became well known for their pep and precision.

Villains Show Spirit on Volleyball
Frosh Capture Intramural

Practice was the by-word of OLP's volleyball varsity, who scrambled down to the lower court every afternoon. Realizing the stiff competition they would face in the opening weeks, they set out to perfect their serves, setups and defenses.

Pointers and encouragement were provided by GAA moderator Sister Leo Francis and Miss Shirley Spielman, physical education instructor, who supervised the afternoon practice sessions.

The Villains charged onto the court for the first big game of the season on November 3. From the first blast of the referee's whistle, it was clear that they would chalk up an Academy victory, as they romped over Little Flower for an easy win. Next came a close contest with Regina Coeli which the Villains lost by only a few points. But they came back strong in their next two games to beat both Rosary and Cathedral.

On the school scene, the freshman class team, under captain Constance Peluso, captured the intramural trophy.

Court; Trophy

OLP vs. Sacred Heart	15-9, 15-12
OLP vs. Little Flower	15-1, 15-8
REGINA COELI vs. OLP (Defeated)	16-14, 0-15, 15-13
OLP vs. Rosary	15-11, 15-11
OLP vs. Cathedral	15-13, 15-9

"Let's go, let's fight, let's win tonight!" echoes across the lower court as Regina Letsinger spikes the ball to add one more point to VILLAIN'S score.

Victorious Villains, D. Shipper, L. Rathswohl, P. Revere, M. Webb, S. Seifert, N. Quirk, co-captain; M. Clancy, captain; P. Sharp, manager; R. Gallant, B. Miller, K. Schultz, R. Letsinger, L. A. Yakes and M. Shepard, line up on Lower Court.

Villains Trounce Rosary in Playoff; Capture League Championship

"A-tisket a-tasket we want a basket . . ." screamed the rooters as OLP Villains faced Regina Coeli Academy in the season opener. Lightning fast footwork on the part of both guards and forwards resulted in an easy victory.

Next, Villains swept past Rosary High School in a thrilling game at the Balboa Municipal Gym. RCA bowed once again to the mighty Villain onslaught as they were defeated for the second time on March 13.

The Presidio Gym was the scene of the tense championship game with Rosary High. Villain guards had a chance to show their skill as they kept Rosary baskets to a minimum. The final whistle found OLP eight points ahead—clinching the game, the championship, and the trophy.

On March 7, St. Mary's Academy from Los Angeles visited San Diego to play a non-league game. Because of the rain, the contest took place in St. Augustine's gym with the Belles edging Villains by nine points.

A grateful student body honored the "Champs" at the next GAA meeting by cheering for each member of the varsity. The Villains were then treated to cake and punch as the cheerleaders led spirited yells.

During the Rosary game, Marilyn Webb attempts to recapture the ball after a toss up.

"Now listen . . ." says Sister Leo Francis as she gives some half-time instructions to the varsity.

OLP vs. RCA	Feb. 21	42-19
OLP vs. Rosary	Feb. 28	19-13
OLP vs. RCA	Mar. 13	27- 6
OLP vs. Rosary	Mar. 21	27-19

Kathleen Schultz and Marilyn Webb scramble for the rebound as a St. Mary's player misses the basket.

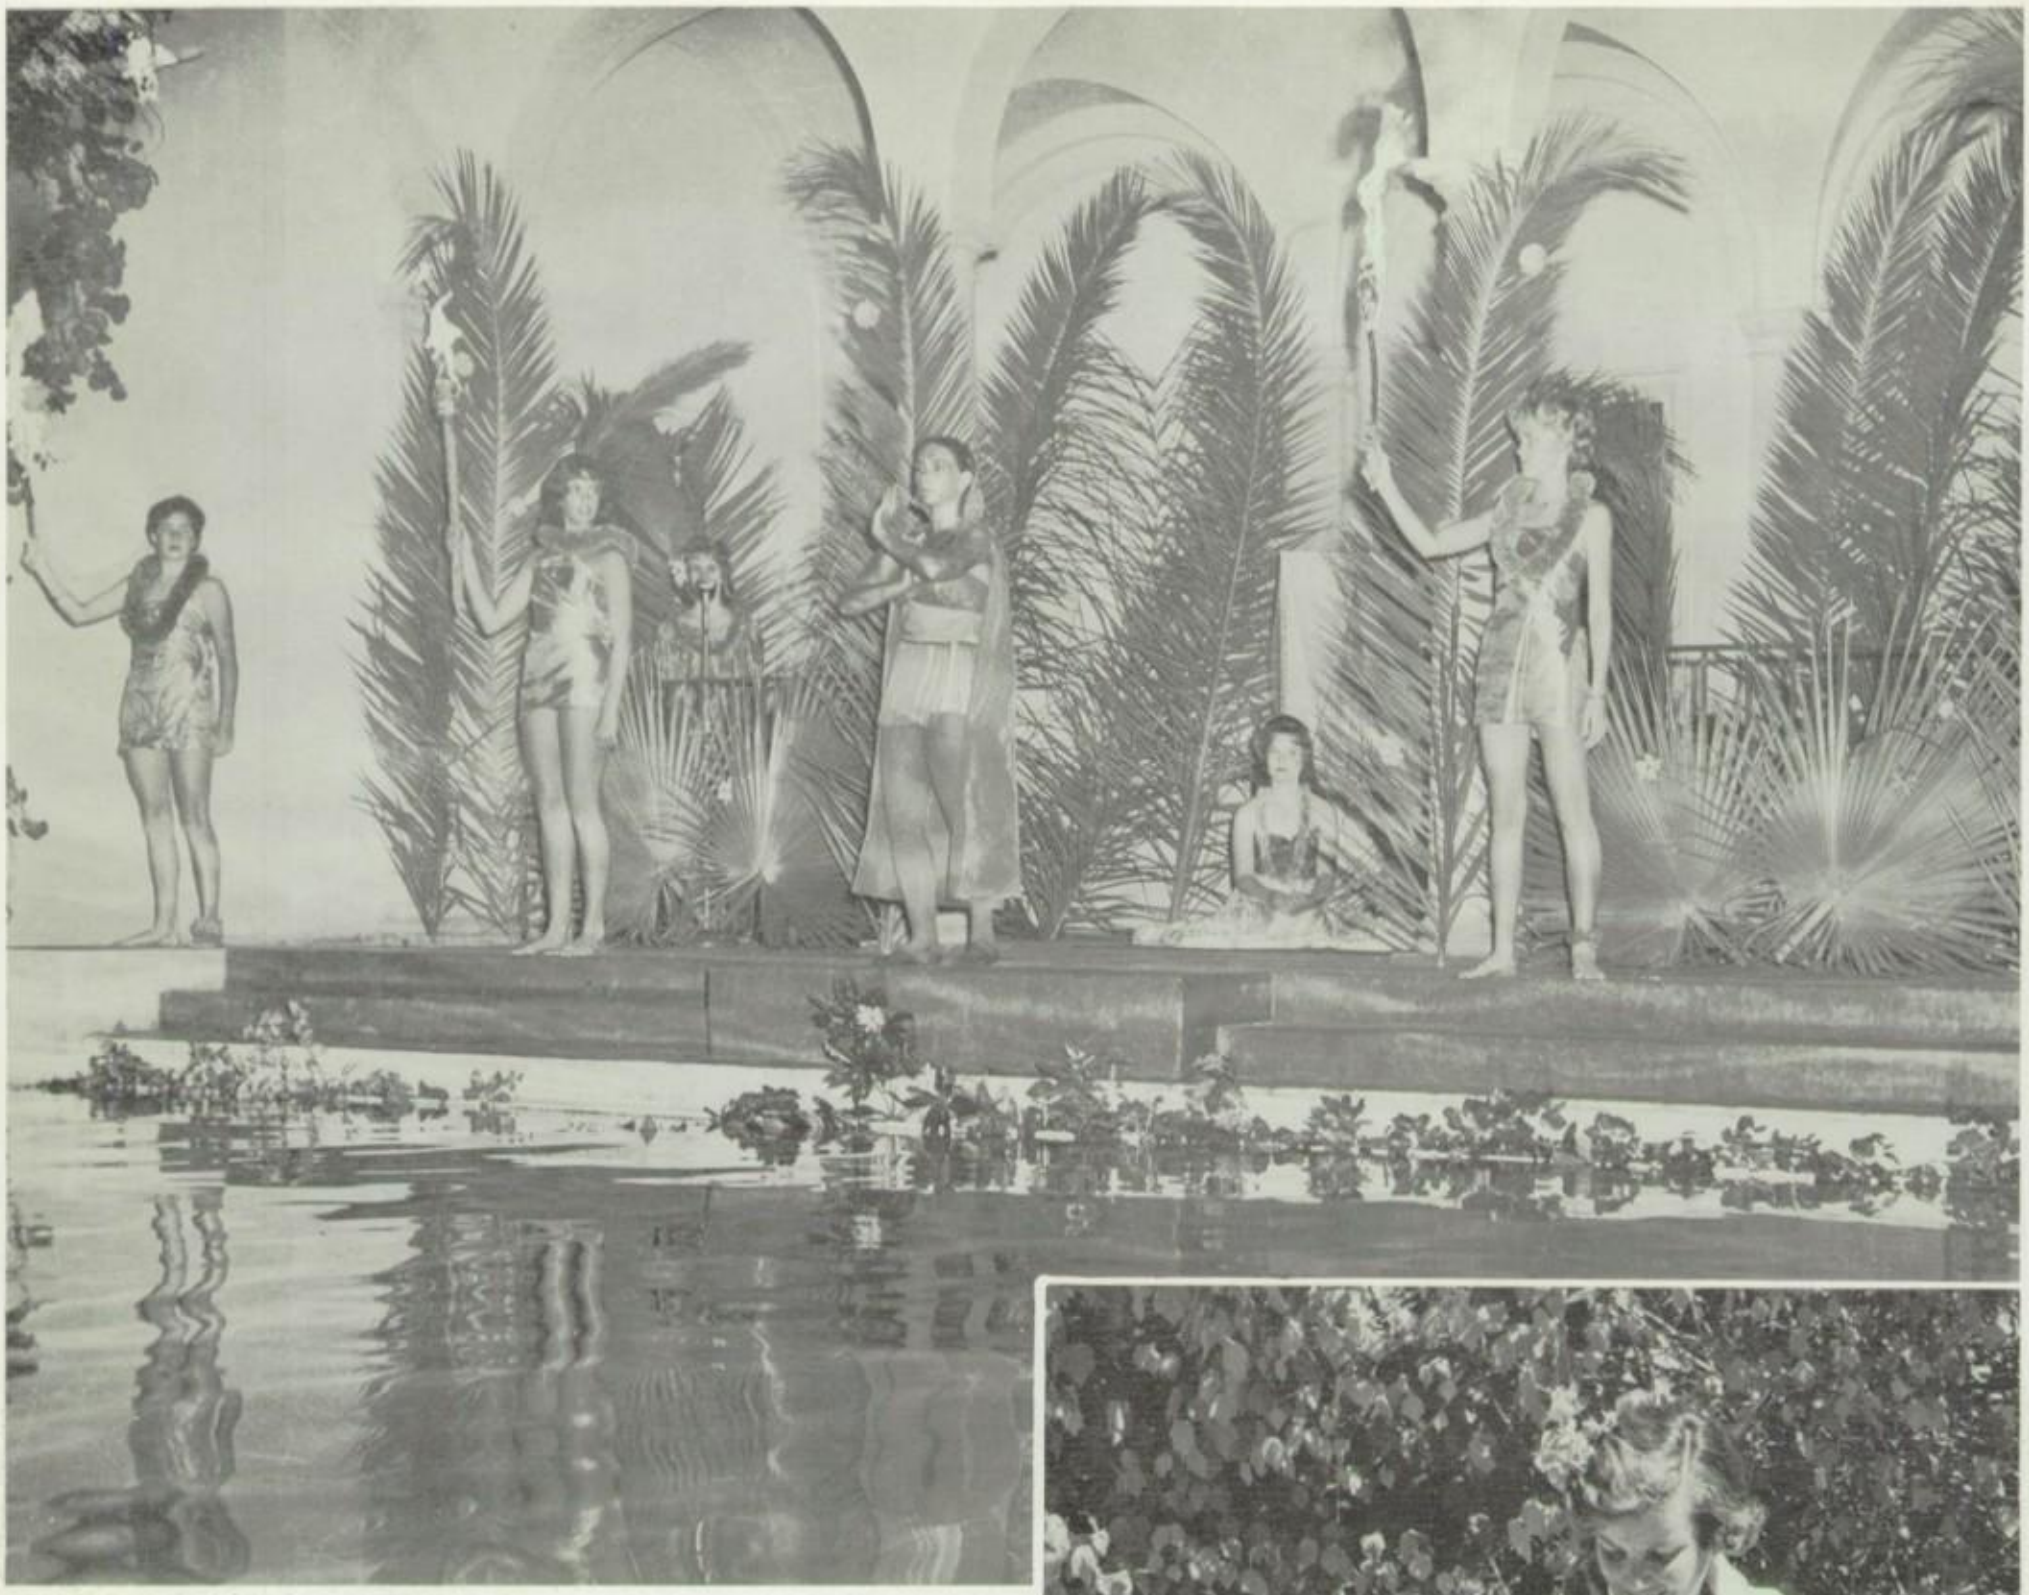
Drill Team, Flag and Baton Corps Arouse School Spirit; Perform at Rallies and Games

With the shrill of her whistle, Captain Margaret Wolff directed the various drill corps throughout the sports season. The University of San Diego's Homecoming Game, Saint Augustine's and University High School's football games, North Park Toyland Parade, National City Maytime Band Review, as well as OLP's games and rallies were some of the events in which the drill corps participated.

On our own home court Patricia Eurich directed the Pom Pon Corps, and Kathy Clause served as captain of the newly-organized Flag Corps. The swirling flags complemented the gaily-colored pom poms as the combined teams marched onto the court for games and rallies.

Another addition to the Academy's cadence corps family was the Baton Corps composed mainly of freshmen and directed by junior Sandra Elliott.

Adding color and spirit are the Pom Pon and Flag Corps performing on the Lower Court during a pre-game rally.



Faint flickerings of lighted torches cast eerie shadows on the Academy's pool as JoAnne Casey enters as the "Fire Goddess."

Native drums resounded through the night as swimmers slipped into the still water, and the Academy pool was transformed into an exotic Polynesian lagoon.

Under the direction of Mrs. Faye Ingledew, the synchronized swimming team presented their aquatic interpretations of "Quiet Village," "Tabu," and other South Sea numbers. Flickering torches, smoke and ethereal music announced the approach of the "Fire Goddess," who captivated the audience in a performance symbolizing the honored native gods.

Also participating in the program was the Academy Glee Club under the direction of Sister Ann Marguerite. Dressed in muu-muus and colorful leis they added a festive air to the ceremonial presentations.

Concluding the program, the glee club sang "Aloha" as swimmers slowly circled the pool waving a final good-bye.

Mrs. Faye Ingledew discusses various routines with rhythm swimmers JoAnne Casey and Christine Coles as they prepare for "Polynesian Nights."

Swim Team Presents "Polynesian Nights"; Gym Classes Train Future Athletes

Physical Education classes, under the direction of Miss Shirley Spielman, encouraged teamwork and good sportsmanship among students — essentials to character growth. Volleyball, basketball, ping pong, and archery sparked competition and achieved their purpose — the development of a sense of loyalty and fair play.

The total development of the young Catholic girl was the aim of the Grammar School curriculum. In reverence of the Christ Child's birth the students presented "The Christmas Carol Pageant." Demonstrating their dedication to the missions, they zealously supported the work of the Church by contributing to the Holy Childhood fund.

Volleyball and volleytennis were favorite activities of gradesiders who engaged in both interschool and intramural competition. Cheerleaders dressed in gay red and white outfits led the cheering sections in spirited yells.

The eighth grade Civics Club sponsored the Safety Patrol and launched a Good Citizenship campaign in which they urged individual initiative.

Fifth and sixth grade Tarcisians review their rules and promises before the annual Tarcisian reception.

Making use of the library in the back of the seventh and eighth grade room are Janice Phillips, Linda Stull, and Suzette Baugh.

Cynthia Parnell and Dorothea Sortiros, eighth grade accompanists practice at the piano in St. Cecilia's.
